

CompanyThe Foundation for Global Health
Care*Presenter*Mamoru
Ishihara

The foundation pursues the goal of creating better healthcare system by introducing Japan's advanced manufacturing technology to the medical field and offering high-level and effective medical service. The main projects are as follow;

Research and development of state-of-the art medicine

Creation of next-generation healthcare industry

Education for international communication

Promotion of clinical researches and trials

The foundation administers clinical trial consortium of various clinical networks to exchange information and collaborate to galvanize clinical trials. The clinical trial administrative center collaborates with the clinical trial consortium in coordinating medical institutions, SMO and Central IRB for speedy and effective clinical trials. It is in cooperation with the medical institution networks such as Japan Hospital Association and JAPSAM as well as other medical institutions conscious of clinical researches and trials. There are about 2,500 medical institutions on the network.

Correlation chart

